Open Meadow Alternative Schools Improves IT Experience for Teachers and Administrative Staff

desktopsites Konect software solution gains further recognition in the education IT domain

Calgary, Alberta, Canada 02/25/08 desktopsites Inc. ('desktopsites'), a rapidly emerging leader in Virtual Access and Application Delivery software solutions for small and mid-size businesses, is pleased to announce the implementation and use of desktopsites Konect Virtual Access and Application Delivery software solution as part of Open Meadow Alternative Schools ('Open Meadows') infrastructure to deliver secure local and remote application access to teachers and administrative staff. Open Meadows is a private, non-profit, accredited, educational organization serving youth who have not fared well in the public schools re-engaging disconnected youth in their education, providing academic and support services to those at a high risk of dropping out of school.

Working in conjunction with Open Meadows in-house Finance and Operations Director Karl Souza and desktopsites Konect Reseller Direct One Networking Inc. of Portland Oregon, several solutions were reviewed. Other alternative solutions were rejected on the basis of cost, ease of use, support complexities, feature set and product capabilities. desktopsites' Konect Virtual Access and Application Delivery software solution was a clear front runner when all the above noted factors were taken into consideration.

"After investigating three or four other vendors, we had decided on desktopsites' Konect Virtual Access and Application Delivery software solution because it is easy to use, provided a strong, rich feature set of functionality and remains cost effective for our organization," says Karl Souza, Finance and Operations Director of Open Meadows. "We have used Konect now for over 8 months. The products functionality and flexibility are very impressive and play an important role in providing critical applications and data to our teachers and administrative staff within the organization and remotely, delivering these resources securely and on-demand."

Phase one of deploying the Konect software solution has allowed teaching and administrative staff to gain secure on-demand access to a range of windows based applications across the campus as well as from remote locations.

Employing a server-based infrastructure, whether utilizing physical or virtual servers, desktopsites' Konect product delivers:

- Centralized management of applications and user configurations
- Secure on-demand applications access, supporting SSL encryption
- Complete control over access rights, directly integrating into Microsoft Active Directory services

- Improves overall employee and IT productivity
